

Weather map

The third map shows the same dots, but this time also includes the weather information at each of these stations. Your task is to shade the areas of rain, heavy rain and drizzle (this isn't a contour drawing exercise). Is it more obvious now what the structure of the weather system is?

