

Comic is titled Helpful Advice.

Going clockwise starting top left:

1st scenario: A person lying ill in bed.

Caption: I get that you have food poisoning and all, but you have to at least make an effort.

2nd scenario: A person with one of their hands chopped off.

Caption: You just need to change your frame of mind. Then you'll feel better.

3rd scenario: A person leaning over the toilet bowl.

Caption: Have you tried... you know... not having the flu?

4th scenario: A person injecting into their stomach (for diabetes).

Caption: I don't think it's healthy that you have to take medication every day just to feel normal. Don't you worry that it's changing you from who you really are?

5th scenario: A person bleeding from their stomach.

Caption: It's like you are not even trying.

6th scenario: A person is seriously ill, lying in a hospital bed.

Caption: Well, lying in bed obviously isn't helping you. You need to try something else.